

8. List and share information about local companies that offer IAS control services

There is a shortage in all parts of Finland of companies offering IAS control or IAS management services.

Because of this, especially in properties owned by private citizens, IAS control often remains undone.

Benefits of the action

Readily available professional IAS control services increase the control of IAS on home courtyards and private lands, and reduces the spread of IAS into nature and into the municipal area.

Do this

Find local companies that offer IAS control services to municipalities and private citizens and inform citizens of this service offering.

Municipalities can also contribute to developing local business activities by e.g. suggesting local landscaping companies to include IAS control in their service offering.

More information

An IAS project by ProAgria Oulu helped entrepreneurs to develop and establish companies offering IAS management services.
